

Mid-Century Ebonized Coffee Table, Scandinavia C. 1960s

DESCRIPTION

This beautiful Mid-Century Modern ebonized coffee table is a true piece of art. Designed in Scandinavia during the 1960s by an unknown designer, it is made from massive pine and features a unique ebonized finish that will suit any living room. The clean lines and minimal aesthetic of the table are evocative of famous work from this period and it embodies the same principles of simplicity and functionality that were central to many of the most influential designers. The table features original screws that attach the legs to the tabletop, which gives it a unique and authentic touch. The screws are rusted but still in good condition, adding character and charm to the overall design. With a width of 140 cm makes it a perfect statement piece for any living space. It is a functional piece of furniture and a testament to the craftsmanship and attention to detail of the designer and the era in which it was created. Despite its age, the table is in great condition and the wear is consistent with its age, adding to its character and charm. This is a rare and one of a kind piece that would be the perfect addition to any collection of Mid-Century Modern furniture.
